

PRESS RELEASE

For immediate release: April 28, 2010

Contact: Annie Young

Phone: (888) 299-5350

Fax: (914) 833-0761

Email: young@eyeoneducation.com

BREAUX AND MAGEE USE DIFFERENTIATED INSTRUCTION TO SPICE UP LEARNING

Demonstrate strategies in new book, How the Best Teachers Differentiate Instruction

Larchmont, NY – In their combined 40 years of teaching, Elizabeth Breaux and Monique Magee have seen time and again the value and effectiveness of differentiated instruction, calling it the “the spice of learning,” or the key ingredient to individual student progress.

They’ve found that determining students’ needs before embarking on instruction significantly increases classroom learning and have written a practical, accessible guide for teachers looking to provide their students with clear, individualized pathways to success.

Along with strategies for strengthening students’ understanding of new material, the authors include a selection of assessments for ensuring students have mastered classroom content, regardless of their unique learning styles and abilities.

In How the Best Teachers Differentiate Instruction, they discuss: management for differentiated instruction, the definition and method behind differentiated instruction, twelve ways to differentiate, and more.

Eye On Education publishes practical reference books for teachers, principals, administrators, and other educators on topics such as literacy, professional development, educational leadership, and school improvement.

# #

For information or to request media review copies, please contact Annie Young at (888) 299-5350 or young@eyeoneducation.com.